

Springtime...

Full of wind and rain and adventure!

Whitecaps on the lake require strength and skill to maneuver canoes and kayaks back to shore...

...rain coming down in sheets!

Watershed hikes that explain erosion more vividly than any leader could!

Wildflowers dot the hillsides ~ Dutchman's breaches, Dog-toothed violets, Jack in the pulpit, Columbine!

Morels pop up just in time to be the tasty centerpiece of wild edibles excursions.

Spring migration dazzles, with the brilliant orange, scarlet and indigo of orioles, tanagers and buntings as they fill the forest with song.

Students slap nets into ponds in pursuit of elusive turtles and tadpoles.

Hand-tied flies are cast into the lake in attempts to catch hungry bluegill off guard.

Goslings float on the pond single file, a protective parent guarding each end of the line.

Newborn fawns hide in the tall grass, an unexpected surprise in a natural scavenger hunt.

Springtime...

An explosion of color and scent and sound...

...inviting all to join the adventure!
